In late January, 60,000 heating, ventilation, air conditioning, and refrigeration (HVACR) professionals will descend on Las Vegas for AHR \(Air-Conditioning, Heating, and Refrigeration\) Expo 2017. The trade show aims to help HVACR companies across the globe find faster, smarter, cleaner, and more efficient ways of heating and cooling. Graphic Products will be on hand in booth N-10531 to share products, technologies, and solutions on how visual communications can help the heating and cooling industry. Effective use of signs and labels not only creates a more efficient work environment—but a safe one, too.

Graphic Products will showcase its line of visual communication solutions and DuraLabel thermal transfer printers starting January 30 and running through February 1, 2017. Candy giveaways and printer demonstrations with DuraLabel Toro will happen along with the following safety products and services:

- Labeling & Signage – including the DuraLabel line of industrial label printers
- Floor Marketing & Wayfinding – including PathFinder floor marking tapes
- Spill Control & Containment – including hazmat pads, absorbent pads, barriers, and more
- Lockout/Tagout – including valve lockout devices, tags, padlocks, and more

The AHR Expo began in 1932 as a heating and ventilation show and has grown to encompass more facets of HVACR. The show features complimentary seminars, a new product and technology theater, a software center, and the annual AHR Expo Innovation Awards.
